UNLEASH YOUR CREATIVE POWERS WITH SONY'S NEW MEGAPIXEL ENGINE HANDYCAM

MEGAPIXEL ENGINE

MegaPixel Engine is an exclusive technology from Sony that realizes high-quality pictures produced by high-resolution CCD. The outstanding results are achieved by an array of advanced technologies.

Ultrahigh-speed Signal Processing Technology - Enormous amounts of image data signalized directly from the CCD pixels at ultrahigh-speed for optimal high-resolution images.

Raw Data Noise Reduction - State of the art technology reduces noise directly from the CCD data source, before the signal output.

Resolution Converter - Sony's Resolution Converter technology condenses huge amounts of image data from the ultrahigh-speed signal processor to form 'optimal' pixels for DV.

Advanced HAD Technology CCD - Small, sensitive and low noise CCD delivers brilliant results in low-light situations as electronic signals are amplified to minimize image noise.

A/D Converter (14-BIT DXP) - Captures the dynamic range between light and dark areas of your subject, thus giving natural color reproduction and details like highlights and shadows.

USE Signal SENSITIVE

Now, new Signal toothpaste that gives fast pain relief and long lasting protection to teeth and gums is now available. "Sensitive teeth" is a common description given to tooth pain of any sort, if flashes of tooth pain that are caused due to cold or hot food and drinks, you may be suffering from Dental Hypersensitivity (sensitive teeth).

1- How teeth sensitivity happens:

Hypersensitivity can occur when dentin, which surrounds the pulp and tooth nerve, is not protected. Dentin can become exposed when gums recede and the protective layer covering the root surface is worn away (absences of cementum). Like a protective blanket, the gums cover the roots of the teeth. As the roots are not covered by hard enamel, thousands of tiny dentinal tubules (channels) leading to the tooth's nerve center (pulp) to be exposed. These tubules allow stimuli to reach the nerve and you feel pain.

2- Tooth Diagram

3-What causes sensitivity:

1-Gums commonly recede for one of two reasons:

A. Plaque around teeth and gums. As plaque hardens it turns into tartar. Bacteria in this tartar are responsible for gingivitis and periodontal disease that cause gum recession

B. Improper brushing habits may remove significant gum tissue exposing tooth roots.

2- Tooth decay

3- Trauma to the tooth

4- Bruxism: The habit of grinding teeth at night or when under stress

4- Signal Research results:

Studies on isolated nerves have shown that Potassium ions are effective in depolarising the nerves. Thus the use of Potassium ions helps block the transmission of painful stimuli resulting in pain relief.

To reduce the risk of future sensitivity in the long term it is required to maintain strong gums free of plaque and gingivitis. The combination of active agents (Zinc Citrate and Triclosan) has proven to be able to fight effectively against plaque and gingivitis. The performance in terms of benefits to gum health or tooth pastes containing Zinc Citrate Trihydrate and Triclosan System has been demonstrated in extensive clinical trials.

5- Signal SENSITIVE Effectiveness:

New Signal sensitive offers a rapid and long lasting relief that works from the first brushing because it contains Potassium Citrate that protects the exposed nerves of the dentine from external stress.

The action of fluoride helps to remineralize the enamel and to prevent dental decay by reinforcing the structure of the tooth, making it stronger and more resistant to external threats, Zinc Citrate & triclosan for better gum health and better protection from plaque. In addition, the sensitive variant formula has been especially developed to be of low abrasivity in order to take care of the enamel and dentine of the teeth. Finally, its soft creamy texture and its exclusive flavor, especially developed to deliver a delicate and long lasting freshness, contribute to make Signal Sensitive an every day tooth paste in which pleasure and efficiency go together.

6- How does Signal SENSITIVE work:

Active Ingredient	Function
Potassium Citrate	Blocks the transmission of nerve painful Stimuli
Zinc Citrate	Anti-Tartar agent & helps to Strengthen gums
Triclosan	Anti-bacterial agent
Sodium Fluoride	Anti-Caries agent

New Signal SENSITIVE:

- *Works from the first brushing.
- *Helps repair gums and minimizes plaque formation.
- *Unique flavor for a refreshing feeling.
- *Bigger size, bigger value.

Chlorhexidine and Propolis combination for dental care

After 20 years of use by the dental profession, Clorhexidine is recognized as the gold standard against which other antiplaque agents are measured. Chlorhexidine's antiplaque effect is a result of the dicationic nature of the chlorhexidine molecule, which affords the agent the property of persistence of antimicrobial effect at the tooth surface, through both bactericidal and bacteriostatic effects.

Propolis is a natural resins produced by honey bees used for covering and lining their hive to protect it from harmful environment.

World wide, propolis is considered as a natural antibiotic for its antimicrobial activity. Many scientific articles are published every year in different international journals related to the pharmacological properties of propolis focusing on its antimicrobial, antiplaque, antifungal immunomodulatory and anti-inflammatory properties

Antibacterial effect of propolis:

- 1- Inhibits bacterial growth by preventing cell division
- 2- Disorganizes the cytoplasm, the cytoplasmic membrane and the cell wall
- 3- Inhibits protein synthesis

Antifungal effect of propolis:

Propolis also has antifungal activity against 80 strains of Candida.

Anti-inflammatory effect of propolis:

- 1- Propolis is efficacious in maintaining a low inflammatory and microbial cell population
- 2- Suppresses prostaglandin and leukotriene generation

Propolis for dental and periodontal use:

- 1- Propolis is efficient in reducing supragingival plaque formation and insoluble polysaccharide (IP) formation under conditions of high plaque accumulation
- 2- Propolis inhibits both glucosyltransferase activity and growth of Strept mutans.
- 3- Propolis enhances the cell immunity of the oral mucosa.
- 4- Propolis shows a synergistic action with other antimicrobial agents against resistant strains of bacteria

The main purpose to keep good oral hygiene is to not only keep good and healthy appearance of teeth and mouth but also to avoid developing other systemic infections and complications. Evidence suggests that people with periodontal disease are at higher risk for developing heart disease, stroke, uncontrolled diabetes, preterm births, and respiratory disease. Periodontal bacteria can enter the blood stream and travel to major organs and begin new infections.

DG-Care®, is a recent product (Chlorhexidine gluconate 0.1% & Propolis combination) which fulfills both the efficacy of mouth washes without their side effects, (as bad taste, discoloration and never keeping patients compliance), and the action tooth paste, (as brushing, removing the food debris and refreshing sensation).

DG-Care® Prevents, controls and helps in treating dental plaque, caries, gingivitis and periodontitis.
